

Superior Species

By OzRoo4U

01 - The Challenge

Scene I

High school was finally almost over. In less than a month, Terra would be done with all the cheerleaders and jocks and popular girls. She felt like throwing up every time one of them got too close to her. She deserved their respect, but high school politics hated anybody with a real brain.

She was ready to be over all of it. But there was one thing she still wanted to do before she left this school behind her for good. She wanted that damned gym teacher, Mrs. Teller, to tell her that the brain is the only muscle that really needs training. She wanted the English teacher, Mrs. Williams, to tell her that her original stories deserved to be published...

Okay, so she basically wanted to dominate all of her teachers and turn her perfect grades into proper praise for her perfection. Something she doubted any of the students would ever do, they wouldn't give her the time of day unless they were forced to by a teacher.

Another day of being the smartest loser Niemen Tech had ever seen. She ground the sole of her right shoe into the floor as she thought about how much she hated this school, then she heard something.

"Miss Kelly?" The voice was annoyingly familiar. Every morning in homeroom, she was the popular cat everybody else liked. She'd been voted the queen at both of the dances in their Senior year, not that Terra went to dances. It was Kady Shadow, the red-headed catgirl whose popularity was as effortless for her as was Terra being the punching bag of everybody else in the school. Still, she was the only popular girl who even pretended to care about Terra.

"Yeah, what is it class pres?" Terra didn't really care what she wanted. But she wasn't going to march away from the lunch line and starve like one of the hot bitches.

"The teachers told me this morning," Kady said, her voice too damn cheery to be honest. "You're going to be offered the valedictorian speech."

A popularity contest among the teachers. Oh sure, only the highest grades were eligible, but Terra was pretty sure Kady was the only student even close to her grades. "They picked the dweeb with perfect grades instead of the princess, huh? What's even the point?"

The line moved forward as one of the students finished getting their ID scanned for the meal. Kady didn't answer immediately, and Terra was sure she was just trying to find the best-smelling fish sticks on the line. Cats always thought they were the best.

"My GPA slipped," Kady said. "Three point nine eight. You have a perfect four."

Served her right. Terra smirked as she took another step forward. "I still don't get the point. Nobody cares what I have to say anyway."

"I know you hate speeches," Kady said. "And I know you can do it anyway. I've paid attention to all of your speeches in English class. But the crowd..."

Terra closed her eyes and took a deep breath. Was this fucking popular princess of the school trying to act like she was concerned about Terra again, the one time the school was going to give her a platform to tell everybody what she really thought?

"Stop talking," she said sharply. "You think I can't give this speech. You think I'm not good enough, and need you to make me feel confident or stronger or some bullshit, right, Shadow?"

"We're not friends, you know. I don't have friends here. I don't need friends. I beat you academically, and you're jealous of me. That's what this really is. You want to challenge me for the top spot now, right kitty?"

Kady took a deep breath. "No, I've always wanted..."

"Challenge accepted," Terra said firmly.

Navigation

- Next Chapter →
-

Superior Species

02

Scene I

"Challenge accepted."

Terra glared at the class president, stepping forward to pay for her lunch. "You think I can't give a stupid speech. I'll show you I'm completely capable of delivering it. Meet me in the atrium after school." Her voice was not loud, but it was firm.

Kady let out a heavy sigh, but nodded. "Fine. I just want to see your best."

Terra bristled at that, but she said nothing else. She turned and walked out of the lunch line, then headed out past the cafeteria to the spot near the library where she always ate. After her food was done, she'd usually go into the library, read up on her personal interests, and often check out a book.

Everybody always thought she needed help. Just because she wasn't some social butterfly, it didn't mean she didn't understand people. In fact, she thought to herself, chewing on her carrot sticks, she understood them all too fucking well. She could probably teach Miss Prom Queen Class President that grades didn't matter, only applied knowledge meant anything.

She could feel the corner of her mouth curling up in a grin. She knew psychology better than anybody in the school. And even if she didn't have any of her own inventions on hand, or tested, she could use her own knowledge all the time.

Scene II

Terra was ready. As most of the teens were heading home or to a room for their clubs, she stood by the broad window of the atrium, directly across from the main entrance. She knew enough about Kadelya that she was confident her prey wouldn't pussy out, she was a goody two-shoes like that.

But a small part of her was still surprised to see the catgirl with her fox girlfriend, approaching Terra. Before she could hear them over the rush of other students, she saw Kadelya lick the foxgirl's cheek and then part ways with her. Terra tried to remember who the foxgirl was. Brown? She wasn't important. Kadelya had challenged her.

As Kadelya got close, Terra offered her hand for a handshake. She took a deep breath as her rival responded in kind. She had to be quick, especially with the crowd. As their hands clasped, Terra gave a sudden tug and wrapped her free arm around the catgirl. "Sleep. Quiet. Obey. Follow me, Shadow. Follow me to the lecture hall, silent as can be."

She felt the cat's body go limp for a second, felt the shock, but she had apparently done it right. After a brief tense shock, Kadelya was staring a bit blankly, and nodded at Terra. She didn't say a word.

"Right. Third floor, north wing," Terra said, letting go of Kadelya. "Nod if you understand." She slowly let go of Kadelya's hand, watching for the response.

Kadelya nodded.

Scene III

The third floor north lecture hall was Terra's favorite. Unlike the others, it had only one door, and no windows. The lock on the door had been broken for a few months, but the room was used so rarely that nobody had gotten around to fixing it. And since it swung inward, she could just move the lecturer's desk up against the door to lock it.

She had been careful to stay near Kadelya the whole way here. Speaking softly and keeping the rudimentary trance state focused. Now, she was ready to work. "Now, you're going to listen to everything I say, you're going to help me prepare my speech, do you understand?"

Kadelya nodded slowly, and Terra felt a rush of excitement.

"You are so attentive, taking notes on everything I say, that it's easy to remember everything and save your questions for the end of my speech. Until I finish, you only speak when I ask you a question. In fact, you only speak, if I tell you to answer, do you understand?"

Another slow nod from the catgirl.

"Since I'm the valedictorian, I'm standing for my speech, but as my audience, you should make yourself comfortable, sitting in any chair you like, or on the floor." Terra nervously bit her lower lip. She'd never done this offline before, and even online she always used text chat. "When you're comfortable, you... you start purring. So I know how comfortable you are."

She wasn't sure if Kadelya could purr, but she was a cat, right? Why wouldn't she purr if she was comfortable. Kadelya looked groggily around the room, her tail swishing behind her as she looked over the seating. After about half a minute, she squatted down and sat herself on the floor, her legs tight together, bent fully at the knees, slightly to one side, with her long feline feet stretching out straight from the ankles.

"Good girl," Terra said licking her lips softly. "You're here to listen to my speech with full attention, right? Answer."

Kadelya looked up at her and nodded slowly. "Yes, I want to help you, Kelly."

"Call me Terra," Terra said. "When we're alone like this, I'd like if you call me Terra."

Kadelya paused and looked at her. "As you wish, Terra. I didn't think--"

"You can leave the thinking to me," Terra said suddenly. "I mean, you only need to think about my speech. Calm, focused on my voice and words for the speech."

After Kadelya gave another nod, Terra started her speech. It was a guided meditation induction, and she watched Kadelya for her responses. Her eyes started to flutter, her breathing grew deep and calm, her purring even seemed to get louder. It took about ten minutes until Terra was comfortable that it had worked well.

"Kadelya, you are now in a deep trance, but I can take you deeper. It will make it easier to focus on me, easier to remember what I'm saying deep down, even though your surface mind might forget the details, your deep hypnotized mind remembers my words perfectly... You want to go deeper, you want to let your surface mind forget so you can remember better in your hypnotized mind."

Kadelya nodded as her eyes fluttered, not quite closed, but struggling to stay open.

"Very good. Now I want you to start counting down, out loud, as I continue the speech. Start at 100, and keep counting until I say 'drop.' With every odd number, feel your surface mind pulling you awake, but with every even number, your hypnotized mind draws you twice as deep, or more, than you surface mind can wake you. Do you understand? Answer."

"Yes, Terra," Kadelya answered her ears twitching as she processed the instruction.

Terra let herself actually smile at that. "Good girl, Kadelya. Start counting now." Terra let Kadelya start her count, then moved on to her deepener. She didn't really need to say anything special, since Kadelya's counting was the real deepener, but she worked to clear thoughts and resistance, to make Kadelya more willing to accept Terra's words as good ideas, as things Kadelya wanted to do. "Once you get to zero, you find that all of my ideas are good. My ideas are things you've always wanted to do."

It took a while, because the deeper Kadelya got, the slower the counting became. The time didn't matter, though. The challenge of making Kadelya respect her completely, unquestioningly, was the point. Soon, soon Kadelya would be deep enough for Terra to do whatever she wanted.

"Zero."

Terra grinned. "That's a good girl. I'm inside your mind now. My words are your mind. You always do what I say, because from now on, whether you're in your hypnotized mind or your surface mind, my words are exactly what you're thinking. Even if you think you thought something else, once I tell you what you are thinking, once I tell you what you want, or what you're doing, your hypnotized mind knows I'm right, and erases anything against my words from your surface mind."

Kadelya stared and nodded.

"Does that make you feel hot, Class Pres? Answer."

Kadelya just stared through still-fluttering eyelids. "I don't know," she finally said, her words slurred.

"It makes you hot and wet," Terra said firmly. "Does that make you feel hot, Class Pres? Answer."

She saw the gears in Kadelya's head turning and working to obey her. Seconds passed. The catgirl was breathing heavier, her hips squirming a bit before she spoke. "Yes, it makes me hot..."

"Good girl. Whenever I call you that, it makes you twice as hot, and makes your hypnotized mind stronger, making you obey me more easily." This was only the start, of course. But the groundwork for her project was important. "Your hypnotized mind knows that you always obey me. What does such a good girl call someone she always obeys?"

Kadelya's mind struggled for a moment, but it seemed to find an answer soon. "Mistress?"

"And you always obey me, so what does that make me?" Terra grinned and stepped in closer to Kadelya.

"Mistress," Kady said, purring the word out. "You are my mistress."

Terra reached down and cupped Kadelya's chin on her hand, gently guiding her to look up. "That's right, Kadelya. Feel your eyes open fully so you can admire your mistress, and know that this face is the most powerful, controlling face in the world. You give me anything I wish, as soon as you possibly can. Tell me who I am. Tell me what you do for me."

Kadelya's eyes slowly fluttered open, and the expression of submission that started to fill her face made Terra almost lose her own composure, but she had to hold on. "You are my mistress," Kadelya said, gasping as she looked at Terra's face from her kneeling position. "I do everything you want, mistress. I give you anything you wish, as quickly as I can."

Terra wasn't finished with Kadelya, but this was a good start...

"From now on, your hypnotized brain always obeys me. What do you call someone who always obeys a mistress? Answer."

Kadelya paused, as if her mind were seeking the word, but it wasn't long before she gave the right answer. "A slave, mistress. I am your slave."

Navigation

- ← Previous Chapter
 - Next Chapter →
-

Superior Species

03

Scene I

"A slave, mistress. I am your slave." Kadelya felt nothing but truth and heat as she answered.

"That's right," Mistress said to her. "You are my slave. And your hypnotized mind always reminds you that you are my slave, and I am your mistress." Mistress paused for a moment and locked here eyes on Kadelya's. "And every time you remember that, it makes you feel hot and horny."

Kadelya nodded. Mistress had already taught her not to speak without a command. She felt a deep pleasure and heat fill her as she looked up at her mistress, every second seeming to remind her more and more that she was a slave and this mousegirl standing above her was her mistress. Mistress had a name... Terra. Mistress Terra had shown Kadelya that this mouse was the Mistress of the kneeling catgirl. She felt her hips squirm, it was so hot to be a slave, to be with her mistress.

Mistress let go of her chin. "Slaves look at the floor when they have no job," she said. "Look at the floor, at my feet. They're just as much above you as my face."

Kadelya nodded slowly, her mind turning over these simple facts. She took a deep breath, as if to speak, but she'd not been told to speak. She lowered her face and stared at Terra's sneakers. They were only uniform maryjanes, but they seemed powerful now that mistress had told her that the feet in those shoes were better than her, since they were mistress's feet.

Mistress was quiet for a while. The next thing Kadelya heard was, "Oh fuck! Shit! Kadelya, wake up. I'm going to count from three to one, and when I reach one, you wake up, your surface mind ignoring everything I've said, but your hypnotized mind still obeying everything I've told you. Answer."

"I understand, mistress," Kadelya said, feeling her calm, quiet mind starting to wake up already.

"Three, two, one." Kadelya heard a shard snapping sound, then, "And wide awake for me now. Three two one, wide awake."

Kadelya's mind was rushing. She looked around the room. Terra was standing by the lecturer's desk, pulling at it. "Uh, what happened? I... I think I dozed off during your speech, miss..." Kady paused as she thought about what she'd had almost said, but tried to catch her mistake. "Kelly? Terra?"

"I lost track of time, the school building is closing in fifteen minutes, slave."

Kadelya took a breath and tried to protest being called a slave. She wasn't a slave, slavery is illegal... except even as she tried to think about how to protest, she kind of liked Terra calling her a slave. She pushed herself up and headed over to Terra. "Sorry, let me help you, miss... Terra?" She did it again. She didn't have time to dwell on it.

"Yes, help me get this desk back, slave," Terra said, apparently unconcerned with filtering herself. "You are my slave, right?"

Kadelya's brain almost short circuited. "Uh, slave? I--"

"Just move the desk. Get that end." Terra was struggling, she must be really worked up. Kadelya helped from the opposite end of the desk, and they were able to get it back to where it was meant to be.

"Fucking hell," Terra said, breathing heavily. "Sorry. I panicked when I saw the time. I... oh wow, that went really well, didn't it? I lost track of the time..."

Kadelya nodded. "I'm sorry I fell asleep while you were giving your speech. I didn't feel that tired."

"It's fine," Terra said, eyeing Kadelya. "Gawd, we have like ten minutes. Come on, get your things and let's get out before they lock the doors."

"Yes miss... Terra." Kadelya squashed the impulse again, but why did she keep feeling it?

"Good girl," Terra said picking up her backpack, and sliding her metal water flask into the side pocket.

Kadelya blushed as she felt a wave of arousal fill her from near her tummy. "I, uh... are you flirting with me, m... Terra?"

Terra's eyes went wide, and she stared at Kadelya. "I, uh, I don't flirt, slave. I own you, don't I?"

Kadelya paused. It was incredibly blunt to say that so plainly. "I... I am your slave, mistress." She raised her hands to muzzle herself.

"Yeah, that's what I thought, slave. But... what if I were flirting with you?" Terra opened the door to the lecture room. "You first, cat-slave."

Kadelya let go of her mouth to pick up her bag, slipping the messenger-style bag over her shoulder. "You know I have a girlfriend, mistress." She said it again. It felt right, somehow. "But, we're not in a closed relationship. I think I would enjoy if my mistress flirted with her cat-slave, if it pleased you too mistress."

Terra followed Kadelya out of the classroom and breathed a bit heavily for a moment as they headed downstairs. "Would you give your girlfriend to me too?"

Kadelya took a deep breath. "Do you even know her name, mistress?"

Kadelya was confused by how certain she was that she actually was Terra's slave, and Terra was her mistress. But she was certain of it, and even after finishing her salmon dinner, it was hard for her to not connect the word mistress with the image of Terra. There was a condescending smirk or smile that really drove it home, though she wasn't sure if she'd actually seen that, or just dreamed it.

A message popped up on her phone.

<Is this Kadelya Shadow?> It wasn't a number Kadelya knew, but it wasn't obviously a spam message. Another message appeared. <Sorry. This is Terra Kelly.>

Kadelya's heart fluttered a bit. She typed in a response. <Can you prove it?>

<You haven't even said if you are Kadelya.>

<Fuck it.>

<calling, pick up.>

Kadelya looked at the messages. Of course it could be anybody, but to ask for her by name and claim to be mistress Terra... she counted the seconds. Three. Four.

The ringtone of her phone went off. The same number as the text. Should she answer it? A few seconds went by, but she had to know. "Kadelya speaking," she said softly.

"Fuck, thank goodness, I was worried because we didn't exchange numbers at school." Terra's voice was a little dry, creaky, but she seemed happy. "So, Class Pres, how does it feel to be a slave?"

Kadelya smiled at the word slave. "I am your slave, mistress Terra. It's kind of hot. But it's new, right? I mean, back at lunch..."

"You've always been my slave," Terra said firmly. "I had you hiding it until today, so you could get close to Sophie Brown for me."

Kadelya's heart fluttered. She loved Sophie. She had been dating her for four years. And now it all made sense. Mistress wanted her to get close to Sophie, so she could give mistress another slave. "I understand, mistress. Is it time for me to deliver her to you?"

"Soon," Terra said, taking a deep breath. "But first I need to finish deconditioning your cover, Class Pres." The way she said Class Pres made Kadelya squirm.

"Deconditioning?"

"I made you into a goody two-shoes social butterfly, Kady." Kadelya squirmed. It made her feel loved to have a nickname from her Mistress. "You've been in deep cover as Kadelya. You were my girlfriend since we were twelve, and I hypnotized you to obey me. Remember."

Kadelya nodded, then remembered that this call was voice only. "You made me forget it all, mistress?"

"I had to," Terra said. "But when you told me I was valedictorian, I knew it was time to make my move, to take you back and get Sophie to join you as my slave. You'll do whatever I command you to, Kady. You're my perfect slave, and you'll help me make Sophie a perfect slave too. I'm going to text you an address, tomorrow you are going to meet me there alone after school."

"Yes, I can do that, mistress," Kadelya said. "I'm... I'm still undercover, aren't I?"

"You are, and you need to maintain it in public," Terra said. "But when you meet me tomorrow, I'll let you break your cover when we're alone, because you are such a very good girl for me. Remember, you can't tell anybody that I'm your mistress until I say you can. And soon, you'll bring me your girlfriend Sophie, so she can be as happy to be my slave as you are."

Kadelya took a deep breath as she approached the old garage. It was in one of the denser neighborhoods of Alabaster, and the houses were more run-down than they were by the coast. She double checked the address that her mistress had texted her, and it was the right house, the garage matched the picture. Her heart was almost dancing in her chest as she walked up the driveway and stopped at the garage. There was a raising door for a car, but on the left there was also a regular door, and it has a bright yellow and black sign reading "Private Property," with a black and white sign under it, "No Trespassing."

She knocked at the door. There was a clatter from inside, followed by a stream of expletives muffled by the door. It took a moment for the blinds on the side of the door to get pulled back, and then for the door to open.

"Welcome home, slave," Terra said softly. "I know it's been a long time since you were here, so I'll show you around."

Kadelya found herself dragged inside, with the door hastily slammed, and locked, behind her. The garage had apparently been converted into an apartment, with drywall and a ladder leading up to the loft, where mistress probably kept her computer and bed. The floor was linoleum, and looked a bit damaged, as if it had been moved into the garage whenever mistress Terra had made it an apartment.

"Oooh, still in your uniform. No, that won't do for my slave. Blazer off at home, Kady. Shoes off, too. Obey."

Kady didn't hesitate, unbuttoning her blazer and slipping it off, then stepping out of her own shoes. "Like this, mistress?"

"Good girl," Terra said. "I don't really do guests much, but I have a lot of fun toys I've been working on here ever since I put you undercover. Text your family, tell them you're spending the night with me."

Kadelya didn't think, she just grabbed her phone and write a text to her dad. <Terra asked me to stay the night, love you dad.> As soon as she hit send, she saw Terra holding out a hand. She gave her mistress the phone.

"You won't be seeing anybody except me for the night, slave. Let's restore my nerdy girlfriend and integrate her with the agent who's been seducing Sophie for me."

Navigation

- ← Previous Chapter
 - Next Chapter →
-

Superior Species

04

Scene I

"Let's restore my nerdy girlfriend and integrate her with the agent who's been seducing Sophie for me," Terra said, her grin growing. Of course this was not a restoration, but she'd fed Kadelya enough new information that she believed it was a restoration of the Kady she had been before Terra put her undercover. Six years worth of memory alterations to accompany making her Kady into the submissive nerd of her dreams.

"I'm so excited, mistress," Kadelya said. "I'm happy you were able to use me so well, and that you're going to bring back my true self to serve you even better."

Terra nodded and turned off Kadelya's phone. "This will get plugged in right up here so you can have it when you go home tomorrow. But until then, my slave, you're my guinea pig to test all of my inventions. And such a good girl."

She noticed the squirm that the trigger caused with a smile. It was too late for the old Class Pres to really be saved from Terra's plans now, the insulation behind the drywall dampened sounds, and even if she did get too loud, Terra had been collecting gags and muzzles for years. "In fact, slave, Mistress says to strip. You don't need clothes when you're in my house, unless I give them to you."

Kadelya's ears twitched, but she nodded, and started stripping right in front of Terra. She undid the buttons on her blouse, letting it hang looser and looser until she slipped it off, showing off the clean, white bra underneath. Then she reached back and undid the snaps holding her skirt up around her tail, and shimmied out of them, leaving only her underwear, the bra, a pair of white panties, and the nylon leggings Kady wore in place of socks.

Terra held up her hand. "Pause, slave. Stand and show me your body before you finish undressing."

Kadelya nodded eagerly, taking a good upright stance, showing off her lean feline figure, the toned muscle just barely visible under her cream-colored fur. She wasn't a jock, but Terra licked her lips at how fit her slave was right now, and grinned at the thought of ruining that firmness with the softness of a semi-sedentary show-slut. A nerd didn't need to be toned, and after graduation, Kady would never have to worry about being popular again, she'd just have to be Terra's own personal nerdslut. Along with Sophie, Terra reminded herself. Sophie was a curious one, she didn't really fit any of the cliques. But she was Kadelya's girlfriend, and if Kadelya could deliver her to Terra, all the better.

"Do you even know her name, mistress?"

Terra paused. "Of course I know Brown's name," Terra said. "And you know I just said it right, so there's no reason to avoid saying it now, slave."

"You're right. I'm sorry, Mistress, I just thought you didn't know Sophie's name."

"Well I do. Sophie Brown is the one who always looks uncomfortable even though she makes whatever she wears looks better than anybody else in this school. So I repeat my question, slave: Would you give Sophie Brown to me?"

"I'm happy to give you anything you want, mistress," Kadelya answered. "Even my girlfriend is yours if you want her."

"Good." They reached the main doors of the school and found the principal waiting to lock up. "Hey, you should give me your phone number, Kadelya. I guess I misjudged you."

Kadelya recited off her phone number, and Terra entered it into her phone as they stood outside by the public bus stop. She stepped in closer to Kadelya after she had saved it, and gave the catgirl an awkward hug. "Forget about giving me your phone number, slave. You forgot to exchange numbers with me, but you only realize it when you get home."

Kadelya gently hugged Terra in return. "Hmm? Oh, it was nice... getting to know you, mistress. Guess it's time to get home now, huh?"

"That it is. I actually need the bus on the other side of road," Terra said. She dared to try implying intimacy before she left though, and nervously licked Kadelya's cheek, the way Kadelya had done with her girlfriend earlier. Kadelya returned the gesture, then let go of Terra. "Have a good night, slave."

Kadelya's cheeks were glowing as Terra started across the street.

Kadelya was nude now, except for a few sensors Terra had put onto her stunning body. Pulse monitors, EEG sensors, and a collar that she had claimed would monitor for "independence flare-ups" (though it, in fact, was just a regular bondage collar with a heavy D-ring and a locking clasp). There was a lot of work yet to do, but Terra had 36 hours and the will to perfect her nerd-slut.

"Kady, do you remember why you first became my slave?" Terra looked over Kadelya with a smirk. There was, in fact, no reason Kadelya should remember, but it would be fun to see if her mind made up an excuse.

"Yes." Terra raised an eyebrow and pulled her glasses off. Stupid, she thought to herself, she can see me without my glasses on. "We made a bet about six years ago, mistress. You won and proved that mice are better than cats, so I became your slave. You are the superior species, mistress."

Terra wondered if she should press for details, but it was good enough. She had formed a justification already, and Kadelya accepted her words as true thanks to the deep hypnotized mind working for Terra already. "That's right. I am the superior species, Kadelya. And not just over cats, but over every other species. That's why you will give me anything I want, even other people. Isn't that right?"

Kadelya took a deep breath and nodded. "Yes, mistress. You are the superior species. You are my mistress. You deserve to own anything you want to, even inferior species."

Terra smiled. "Very good girl. Now I'm going to put a vibrator in you, it will help me reawaken your hidden self, so she can become your real self again, aware and able to use the secret agent I made you into." She inserted the vibrator, and strapped the control to Kadelya's left thigh. "Because Kadelya was active for so long, it will take very deep hypnosis and mind breaking to remind her that she's just a secret agent, but that's why I need to control your arousal too, okay Kady?"

Kadelya nodded slowly. "Yes, mistress. Ho-honestly, I'm remembering more and more... and I'm so glad to let you turn me on and break Kadelya so my true self can return to you. I want this, mistress."

Terra smiled broadly. It had barely been a day, but Kadelya was begging her to break and alter her permanently. Even if there hadn't really been a bet, even if she wasn't really a superior species... it was hard to not think of Kadelya as an inferior and a natural slave with how much she was already responding.

"This helmet uses directed electromagnets to disrupt your brain," Terra said, picking up a bulky headset with monitor-headphones on the side. "I know it looks like headphones, but these are magnets that will let me mold your neural pathways without a chance of conscious resistance. I could make you someone you never were with this on..." She paused for a moment, deciding to play up the story. "But I promise I will only return you to the Kady you were when I hypnotized you to become polite, social, formal, Kadelya. Because I love my kitty-Kady slave, and am ready to take her back so she can give me Sophie."

She watched Kadelya's body respond. She seemed excited, eager. Maybe even a bit curious about the idea of becoming someone who hadn't really existed before? That did excite Terra, how much could she rewrite what Kadelya, no, what her Kady slave remembered?

She slipped the headset onto Kady, then helped her onto an old futon converted into its bed mode. "Good girl, Kady. Just lie down here, and I'll start working on restoring you to the primary personality. You'll do anything for your mistress, won't you?"

Kadelya let out a sigh. "Yes, yes mistress. I'll do anything for you, mistress. I give myself to you completely."

For a moment, Terra felt a slight pang of guilt at the idea of turning Kadelya into nothing but a tool for her own pleasure. But then, she looked down at the naked cat-girl, her cream-colored fur looking so inviting, and decided that conscience was no good reason to turn down the hotness of a purrfectly mindfucked slave.

She flipped the switch to enable the magnetic neuralizer and grinned.

So long, Kadelya.

Navigation

- ← Previous Chapter
 - Next Chapter →
-

Superior Species

05

Scene I

So long, Kadelya.

"My words are your truth," Kadelya was less aware of the words than what they meant. Mistress was speaking and her words were Kadelya's truth.

"You prefer to be called Kady." Kadelya would have nodded, but found that she couldn't do anything, except become what mistress said.

"You are my property." Kadelya (or was she Kady?) agreed.

"You are a loser." Kady gasped. She remembered being well liked. But Mistress... Mistress spoke the truth. Kady must be a loser.

"You are a nerd." Kady had never thought of herself this way, but it had to be true. Mistress said it, after all.

"You love being humiliated. Especially by your mistress." Kady could feel how humiliation kept her in her place, how it kept her obsessed with mistress Terra. "It turns you on when I put you down, Kady. You want me to bully you like the loser nerd you are."

Kady squirmed a bit. Her body was warming up, and she felt herself sucking on her lower lip. Of course. She was mistress Terra's slave. She needed to be kept in her place, put down and humiliated and bullied by her mistress.

"You know that I only bully you because I love you." Of course. Mistress Terra was the greatest, and she showed her love by pushing Kady around. Kady loved her mistress bullying her.

"Now, count dweeb. 100 to 0, let your truth settle in deeply. Everything that conflicts with my truth for you wears away to be replaced with what I say."

Kady blinked and opened her eyes. Everything was blurry. "What happent mithreth?" She didn't remember having a lisp, or her nose buzzing so much when she spoke.

"I had to take you out of trance for a bit, my little dorkslave," Terra said, disdain in her voice. "I had to test the hypnotic surgery..." There seemed to be a slight pause here, but maybe Mistress just had to catch her breath. "... reversals. When I made you a secret agent, I had to make you convincing, but now that your assignment is over, I need to make sure the reversals work right. Let's try a few things, Kady."

Kady nodded, looking towards the voice, and seeing a dusty brown-grey blur. "Mithreth, I canth thee you," she said. "What kindh of hypnotic thurjhery..."

"I gave you clear vision before. But you're hotter when you're blind as a bat, like you were before," Terra said. Kady felt a pair of glasses shoved over her muzzle, in front of her eyes. "Of course, giving you clear eyes with hypnosis was a lot of strain, so you probably need an update to your prescription, dork. Can you see me now?"

Kady squinted, but she could, in fact, make mistress Terra out better now. "Oh goth... you look way hotter den I remember, mithreth... but you're thill a bit fudhy."

"Well, those glasses match your prescription from six years ago," Terra said firmly. "I said you'll need a new prescription, so make do with them until you can get to an optometrist."

Kady took in a sharp hiss of air and felt herself nodding. "Yeth mithreth," she replied.

"But hey, guess what, slave? You're eighteen and you got to pretend to be a popular bitch for me. You remember everything my agent Kadelya did the last six years, right?"

Kady nodded, then shook her head, then scrunched her face up, and blushed. "Y-yuth! Oh, I dated Thofie Brown? Shedh way too cool for a loodher like me, mithreth."

"Yes, and she trusts you very much," Terra said. "Which is why I'm going to let you keep pretending to be fancy Kadelya until we graduate, but after our ceremony, you're going to make Sophie my slave."

Kady squirmed inside and out at that. She loved being mistress Terra's slave, and the idea of being able to enslave the weird hot girl, Sophie, for her mistress really made her cunny tingle. "Oh mithreth... pleadh let me thart now..."

"No, it's too early right now," Terra said. She was very close to Kady, though, and Kady finally felt her touch. "It's only your first time even coming back from the deep sleep I put you in so you could be Kadelya, you dope. You have almost a month to learn everything you need to know to make sure you get her to me."

Mistress Terra was going to teach Kady? Her heart and stomach both seemed to dance at that idea, like it was the greatest, or second greatest, honor in her life. If it was second, then being enslaved by mistress was first, but being taught to enslave others for mistress made her drool a little bit... and it made her cunny wet too.

"Oh pleadhe, pleadhe, mithreth," Kady said, her hips squirming at the thought. "I'm your thlave, let me bring you adh many thlavdh adh you want."

"I will," Terra said, her face coming closer and clearer. "But first I need to make sure you're all recovered. I know your love for me had to be hidden, and we're both grown up now... so isn't there anything fun we could do all alone?"

Kady closed her eyes for a moment. Something fun they could do together, alone... Walking was too jocky. Reading? No, she couldn't read until she got new glasses. Play a game? Not a video game, but she could probably still beat mistress in chess. Oh!

"I could wash your feet, mithreth?"

"We're big enough to have even more fun with my feet now, dweeb." Terra unhooked some of the equipment that Kady couldn't recognize and helped Kady stand up. "You can still manage a ladder, right dork?"

"I think tho, mithreth," Kady said, not entirely sure where she was or where the ladder might be. It was all still very blurry, even with her old glasses on. "Adh long adh you can get me to it."

Terra had converted the upper part of the garage into a loft bedroom. With a ladder as the primary entrance, which she apparently raised up to make a fence. Kady took her mistress at her word for that, since she couldn't really make out the ladder by sight. But she did know she was naked, kneeling, and waiting for her mistress to show her something more fun to do with feet than giving them a bath.

That was hard to imagine, because she had always loved giving mistress Terra foot baths and washing her body. She loved the feeling of being the only person mistress trusted to touch her so closely. She was always desperate for cuddles. She almost got lost in dreaming about cleaning her mistress up.

When she realized her eyes were closed, she opened them wide. The dusty brown fur of her mistress was still really blurry, but the size of the blur made Kady think that mistress might be naked. She felt her heart skip a beat at the thought of that. Mistress was naked with her. In the bed of mistress.

It was very hot in the loft room right now. She sniffed and smelled something like overexposed cheddar with an overtone of vanilla but just a hint bitterness, like an aerosol. A blob of pale green was moving towards her face, the scents getting stronger, and then it rose up and pressed close. Just before it reached her muzzle, Kady inhaled sharply as she could recognize the sock her mistress was wearing, full of foot and about to boop her nose.

Inhaling was a mistake. The scents flooded her brain and along with the excitement of being with mistress, Kady felt her hips squirm. She knew Kadelya got that way around Sophie, but she'd been in deep cover for so long it was a new feeling to Kady. "Oh goddess," she moaned, taking in another deep breath, telling herself inside of her head that she loved mistress so much, even if this foot smell would be gross from any other source...

"Mistress it smells so strong," she said, half panting. As she finished saying it, the sock pressed firmly against her nose, the heel pushing further in until the whole front of her muzzle was covered by the smell of cheddar and fake vanilla spray. She couldn't help herself as her lips puckered and kissed the sole, her tongue venturing a light lick.

"That's because you know everything about me controls you," Terra said smugly. She pressed her foot firmer against the worshipful kitten's muzzle. "And that I deserve your worship. From my toes to the tips of my ears, you are inferior and I am superior, Kady. And I'll never let you forget that again."

Navigation

- ← Previous Chapter
- Next Chapter →