

The Trouble with Twins

Prologue: Stupid Sexy Twins

Ciel purred deeply, uncontrollably, as she stood in her room. Mael seemed to have gotten hotter than ever since their birthday, and he never closed the bathroom door fully...

Broad shoulders and a full mane of unkempt hair flashed through her mind, followed by those beautiful sky-blue eyes. She tried to breathe slowly to calm down, but remembered how his tail swished softly as he dropped the towel to the floor, exposing the sculpted glutes -- and everything else she could see from behind him -- that four years of intramural sports had earned him, and had earned her to luxury of seeing.

"Stop it, Ciel," she muttered, trying to shove the image out of her mind. "That's your spirits blessed brother, not just some hunk in a magazine."

Blessed, he was. His front side was every bit as sculpted, she knew. And as family, she had plenty of opportunities to snuggle into him, to get close and feel his muscles, his pecs, shoulders, biceps...

"Spirits! Ciel, stop drooling over your brother," she whispered in a desperate attempt to will these desires away. They had agreed to stop acting like horny kids. She was supposed to be getting over this crush. "Just think about Les, think about Les..."

The image of the elf came to mind slowly, but she was able to get it. Her boyfriend, Les Oakdell. He had charming hazel eyes with gold flecks, and he'd gotten the cutest sunburn on the beach at Shady Cove. Sure, the burn had healed by now, but it gave him a nice warm look, contrasting his fair hair. Les was skinny, not very muscular at all, but he was adorable.

And then she thought of their birthday, when she'd dared Les to kiss Mael. Her hips buckled and she fell forward onto her bed, wishing that hiding her face would stop her thinking about her stupid sexy brother. "Ple-he-hease, spirits, I don't want to keep thinking about him this way," she cried into her mattress and duvet. "I just want to be normal about my brother."

But even as she said the muffled words, her left hand was moving down her tummy, under the waistband of her skort, and into her panties. She wasn't going to stop thinking about him once she was already feeling this. She would have to rub it out of her, even though she knew that would only feed the fetish for now.

She would have started slowly, but as soon as she felt the electrical spark of her finger on her labia, she couldn't slow herself down. Stroking with the tips, her claws blunted from her latest grooming appointment, she teased herself only a little bit before letting herself rub the pearl at the end and purring up a storm into her duvet.

Quiet, quiet, she reminded herself. He was probably still showering, of course, but Kady was home for the weekend. Dad was in the kitchen, putting together dinner. She wasn't sure where mom was. She didn't want them to see her. Not because she was ashamed of masturbating, but because she was ashamed of the fantasy she was masturbating to.

Her thumb rested on the nub as her index finger slid carefully in between her labia. She could feel the pressure growing, imagining that Mael was the one about to fingerbang her, she stroked the inside, biting down hard on her bedding to keep herself from screaming or yowling in pleasure.

In her mind, Mael used his right hand to finger her, holding her hips close from behind, his shaft hard and positioned between her thighs.... She whimpered a bit as his blunted clawtip, a fantasy mirroring her own motions, traced a path deeper into her, his pads covering her clit where her own thumb-bean was resting. One finger wasn't enough, just an appetizer, but then she felt as if he was grabbing her left breast, small as it was, and cupping it in his beefy paws. What would he say...

"I love my sissy's titties," she imaged, her purring growing deeper as she remembered how they used to roleplay with her naming different personas. Her girly girl side, pink and cheerful and all the stereotypes. Sissy Shadow... and she almost let herself adopt the persona. Almost... Sissy would be so shy and shocked at this. But he loves her titties...

"That's a good sister," she imagined him saying. "Muzzle stuffed full while your bro takes out his tension with you. That's how Sissy helps me relax after all my training." She nodded, purring still despite her mouth being full of bedding. Sissy would do anything to help Mael unwind after his training. Even something as disgusting and immoral as being his incestuous living fleshlight. And her tail went tense as she rocked herself on her knees, imagining Mael cumming inside of her, but saying, "Sissy isn't done yet. That's just round one."

She slipped a second finger inside of herself, starting to pump them like they were a sex toy, even though she felt like she was the real sex toy because of her fantasy. "T... tabuk..." she mumbled, then tried again... "O, oniichan..." Neither of the words felt quite right today, so in her mind she settled for what felt the most obscene way to address him... "Brother!"

Sex toy, of course she had dildos to use, but she was knuckles deep into herself now. Groaning she wondered if she should pause and get one or not... but she couldn't stop right now. She knew what she was saying even with her mouth full. "Brother... Brother, I'll do anything to help you relax!"

Closing her eyes, she felt them roll up, she felt herself dwell in the fantasy where her little twin brother was using her like a fuckdoll after a day of gym time and sport training. She was loving it, even though she didn't want to.

"Brother, you make me so wet," she purred in the fantasy, not sure if she had put in a third finger or if her confession was making Mael even harder. His turgid shaft pumped in and almost out, and she could feel the texture of the feline equipment almost like it was real.

"Brother, I'll do anything..."

"Ciel!" The voice was coming from downstairs. Her dad.

It froze her disgusting, perverted reverie, and she realized how heavy her breathing had become with her mouth stuffed full of bedding. She spit the bedding out, slowing her fingers, but not quite stopping them.

"Yes daddy?" She called out as soon as she had her breath under control enough.

"Can you go check the laundry, please?" Laundry. That was what needed to interrupt her when she was getting so close?

"Uh, I'm kind of... busy. Can it wait five minutes?"

There was a short pause. "I'll give you ten. Finish up and then go get Mael's load in the washer."

Ten minutes had let her enjoy the rest of her fantasy. And now she was feeling low and dirty for it as she finished wiping her juices off her hand, straightening her skort and powder blue cami, and tried to calm her breathing down.

Dad probably knew what she'd been doing anyway. He always seemed to know, and never explained how. He just always said things like, "It's fine to indulge your desires and fantasies, as long as you get consent from your partners. Even if your partner is yourself."

And he was the best daddy, but there are things a young lady doesn't want to talk to her daddy or mommy about. Not out of shame, really... more like cringe. She looked into the mirror above her dresser and shook her head briefly. "I am Ciel," she said firmly, feeling the echoes of Sissy from her fantasy. "Thank you for your help, Sissy, but I need to be myself."

She looked at the fingers on her left hand one last time and then at her door. She stuffed her index and middle fingers in her mouth and pulled them out slowly. She imagined they were Les's cock after he came in her. She purred and smiled a bit. "That's much more acceptable," she said, grabbing a napkin to wipe her fingers off one last time before getting the laundry.

She almost felt like skipping, or bounding, downstairs. She was going to switch out whatever was in the washer for a load of Mael's dirty clothes... a load of his... she smiled softly as she realized what that meant. And then she stopped herself at the top of the stairs. "Stop crushing on your brother," she said firmly in her mind. "He's off limits!"

She knew that the part of her mind that kept saying this didn't really care, but her conscious self had to do its part, at least.

Five minutes later, she closed the door of her room and sat in front of her computer, only to realize that her spirits blessed left hand had acted on her subconscious desire, and she was holding a pair of Mael's boxers. Even as she growled to herself about needing to get over this twin crush, she knew she wouldn't be able to throw it in the hamper without indulging her nasty desires one more time.

A few more days passed similarly. Sometimes Mael walked in on her about to shower, or in the middle of masturbating, and he'd ask if she'd seen his socks, or his boxers. He seemed to have become almost oblivious to Ciel's lingering crush on him, even when he walked in on her rubbing her pearl or riding herself and she tossed him whatever he was looking for.

Every night she tried to figure out some way to get over this incestuous crush. They had both agreed to let it go when they started dating the Oakdells. Well, specifically when Henri had said she'd be happy to date both of them. They had a girlfriend. And Ciel had Les as her boyfriend too.

She settled on extreme measures. The hypno goggle technology she had developed years ago. The nanites she'd been working on. And a neural inhibitor to help speed the process along.

She looked down to her traitorous left hand, and saw that yet again, she'd swiped some of his socks. Well, she wouldn't be able to focus on developing this new device if she was distracted by her horniness. She'd just have to indulge lightly when her focus started to drift.

The concept was simple: a nanite injector and collector in a goggle-like frame. No visual interference patterns, no audio, just a faux-implant to house the nanites, and a way to inhibit her brain while the nanites did their work. And of course, she wouldn't be able to test it on anybody else.

Two weeks of work passed. Finally, she was ready... the nanites had their programming to probe, find, and break down the neural pathways that made her feel attracted to her brother. The injector was set up with an electrostatic adhesive that could be released from her skin and fur with the press of a button. The neural inhibitor had even been tested in bursts up to 30 minutes, so she hoped it wouldn't take much longer to run the nanites through her.

It was time. Ciel reclined her computer chair, holding the injector in her left hand. It would mount around her right eye, looking like a piece of cybernetic equipment. She bit down on her lower lip gently, feeling a twinge of nervousness. She glanced to the far end of her workbench, where one of Mael's socks was hanging, and shook her head.

"Good night Incestuous Ciel." She raised the injector her face and pressed the button to turn it on...

TO BE CONTINUED